

School of Homeopathy Celebrating 25 years

The School of Homeopathy in Devon is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year – an extra cause for celebration for founder and director Misha Norland is that his eldest son Mani is graduating this summer.

The school is run by a team of dedicated teachers, tutors and mentors, including many former students who co-operate in creating and maintaining the family atmosphere and the ethos of the School for which we are nationally and internationally renowned; over 3,500 students worldwide have enrolled on the courses to date.

Mani with his wife Amanda have recently moved back to the family home and both are set to qualify in June. They are also running Alternative Training, recognized as a leader providing home study courses for alternative medicine. Alternative Training offers courses in Homeopathy, Anatomy & Physiology, Pathology & Disease and Nutrition.
